The Democrats have been beaten in game to organize the Senate, and now are anxious to get the crumbs that fall from the political table.

William M. Evarts, Allen G. Thurman, and Timothy O. Howe, will sail for Paris on the 2d of April to take part in the great international monetary conference.

Certain ministers keep on preaching and writing against Sara Bernhardt, and Sara keeps right on packing opera houses, winning storms of applause, and getting rich.

Mrs. Langtry may be able to retain her incomparable beauty, but it seems that she is not able to keep her expensive wardrobe and other effects, and therefore they will be sold at auction.

Ben. Hill begins to wish he had never bristled up to Mahone. He often wished he had never made a speech which stirred up Buine. He never will forget the time he undertook to handle the present Sen. at from Maine.

More cotton and less politics seems to be gaining ground in the South. A cotton mill which will cost about four hundred thousand dollars, will be built in Charleston during the coming season.

The best definition of David Davis' position that can be given is, that he is too good to be a Democrat and not good enough to be a Republican, therefore will act with the Democrats until he grows better.

The Madison post office seems to be the bone of contention among those who are opposed to Mr. Keyes. It has been given to several persons within the last few days, and A. S. Frank is the last man named who will certainly receive it. It is very likely that some one else beside Mr. Keyes' personal enemies will have something to say as to who shall be postmaster.

The joint resolution which provides for biennial sessions of the Legislature and biennial elections, has been ordered to a third reading by the Assembly. It will probably have no trouble in going through the Senate. We hope the subject of biennial sessions will be submitted to the people, and if the amendment is adopted, and biennial sessions prove expensive and unsatisfactory, there will be no trouble and delay in going back to the old system.

A singular debate occurred in the Michigan Legislature on Wednesday in regard to the purchase of a portrait of Zach Chandler, for the State. A bill was introduced to appropriate $2,000 for that purpose, which resulted in the most heated and animated debate ever heard in the Michigan Legislature. Personalities and the bloody-shirt were brought in the discussion and a general loss of common sense seemed to have taken place. Some Democrats favored the purchase, and there were a few Republicans who opposed it. The appropriation will probably be made when the members regain their sober senses.

It is rumored in Washington that the President will renominate Fred Douglass Marshal of the District of Columbia. At first it was supposed he would not give him a reappointment, but send him off to Brazil. Mr. Douglass, was the first colored man who ever held that important position. One of his duties is to attend the Presidential receptions at the White House, and in fact to be the master of ceremonies. That a negro should have the honor to do this, has been unpleasant to the feelings of a certain white class, and they have objected to see Mr. Douglass, one of the first orators living, occupy so conspicuous a position at the White House. Mr. Hayes did right in thus honoring Mr. Douglass, and we hope President Garfield will give him a reappointment.

Those who have taken an unusually deep interest in the next State ticket have made up the following slate:

For Governor—Geo. W. Ryland, of Grant.

For Lieut. Governor—Hans B. Warner of Pierce.

For Secretary of State—E. G. Timme, of Kenosha; or John E. Eldred, of Milwaukee.

For Treasurer—Robt. McCurdy, of Winnebago.

For Attorney General—L. F. Frishy, of Washington.

For State Superintendent—W. E. Chandler, of Dane.

It may be all right to indulge in a little pastime in guessing who will be the nominees of the next State convention, but we apprehend that all states will be badly broken up by the convention as they have been in the past. It is therefore useless for any faction to attempt at this time or any other, to make a ticket which a State convention will accept. The people want something to say on the question and they will get what they want.

There has been an unusually interesting competition going on in Vermont during the past year among boys under seventeen years old, for a prize for the best yield of corn and potatoes per acre. The prize was $25 in cash, and a scholarship in the university for the best pri-

Special to the Gazette.

MADISON, March 17.—Somewhat of a sensation was created in the Senate this morning, by the introduction of the following resolution by Filkenburg:

WHEREAS, It is currently charged in several newspapers, that certain members of this Legislature, received money and other considerations for their support of Angus Cameron for United States Senator, at this session of the Legislature, now therefore, be it

Resolved, By the Senate the Assembly concurring that a committee of three from the Senate and five from the Assembly, be appointed to investigate and report as to the truth or falsity of such reports, and that such committee be composed of members who were known as independents during the session.

H. A. PATTERSON, P. M.

COOKSVILLE.

—Some of the tobacco farmers have finished up their stripping and are now ready for the market.

—Mr. J. K. P. Porter believes it will pay to handle his tobacco after the best approved method; consequently he has had a large force stripping and assorting nearly all winter, and they calculate it will take four weeks yet, with fifteen hands, to finish the work. He has a yearly average crop of about thirty-five acres growing on his farm, which involves an immense amount of manual labor, and when we consider that this one crop of over 46,000 pounds is to be all table-sorted into six different grades, they can form some idea of the labor required to put it into the best marketable condition.

Mr. Porter and sons have been so many years in the business that they understand that what is worth doing at all, is worth doing well.

—Town meeting comes this year April 5th, and our caucus always occurs on the Saturday previous, by common consent.

—Mr. Crandall's school closes this week. We shall miss his genial face among the patrons of this district.

—Every body says they never saw such a time of snow blockade, and we are quite willing to endorse the fact that we never were so long without a communication with the outside world.

—Drifts on drifts lay piled mountain high, with snow claimed to be three feet deep on a level, and fears are entertained of a flood when it moves out.

—Mr. Preston, living near Bass lake, has bought the Dairy house, and moves into the same. We are glad to welcome all good citizens among us.

—No lodge meeting at Good Templars hall for three weeks, on account of storm and snow drifts. Such a thing as never occurred in the history of the lodge since its organization.

—Byron H. Coon, of Chippewa Falls, was in town this week. He is looking as young as he did in days of yore.

TOWN CAUCUS.

—A mass convention of all friends of temperance of the town of Milton, with regard to sect, party or creed, will be held at Milton Junction, in Morgan's hall, Wednesday, March 23, 1881, at 2 o'clock P. M., for the purpose of nominating a town ticket for officers whose endeavor will be to see that the law of the land as regards the sale of liquor is properly respected in the town of Milton.

By order of the Milton Temperance Association.

Ezra GOODRICH, President.

—The next meeting of the Temperance Association will be held at the Seventh Day Baptist church, in this village, on Tuesday evening, March 22d, at 7:30 o'clock p. m. This meeting will be an important one, and the last before our temperance town caucus. A full attendance of all friends of temperance is earnestly solicited.

—Mr. Z. Southwick has been quite sick the past week, with inflammation of the lungs, besides suffering partial blindness from an injury received to one of his eyes.

—Clark Bros. had a car load of hogs and sheep loaded when the last storm struck us, but the car remained at the yard just a week before the first freight train southward could pull it into market.

—There was a first class corner on wood and oil in this town during the late blockade. One of the clerks in the leading store here was seen hunting up and down Merchants' row with a gun in his hand, and as to wood, well, the result of asking a man to sell a half cord if he had any, at any price, remained us of what a traveling man remarked a few weeks since about one of the hotels in Janesville at the time eggs reached their highest point. He said all that was necessary to insure a first class row was to ask Pete for eggs.

—One or two cases of measles in town last week.

—Mr. Byron Coon, of Eau Claire, has been calling on his numerous friends in this locality for a few days past.

—A young man named Jeff Oakley, living three miles west of here, cut off one of his toes a few days since, while cutting wood. As a surgical operation was a complete success.

—Mr. George Sayers, of Koskoshonog, is living very low with heart disease and dropsy.

—Thursday last was a lively day at this station in clearing the Northwestern road. The big Pacific snow plow was quite a novelty. At one time there were nine engines at work or standing on about half a mile of track.

—The funeral services of Mr. H. R. Hinkley, for ten years past the express agent at this junction, took place at his home in this village on Thursday last, at 12 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Loomis officiating, after which the remains, accompanied by the family, and Mr. D. Williams, representative of the Masonic order here, of which deceased was a member, left by the N. W. road for Green Bay, where they were met by the Masonic order of that city, and the burial took place with Masonic honors. Mr. Hinkley was 43 years of age, and was during the war a member of the 10th Wisconsin Infantry, since which time he has been in the express business, being for some years messenger on the road, until located here. Deceased was a large-hearted, enterprising citizen, an ardent Republican, and a useful member of a community that will miss him in many ways. He leaves a wife and three children, to whom the community, one and all, extend their heartfelt sympathy in this, their hour of sorrow.

—Mr. C. J. Bliss has just received a carload of Champion reapers, and from all appearances, is preparing in all departments of his business for an unusually heavy trade the coming season.

—Mr. Geo. H. Butts desires through the medium of the Gazette, to extend his sincere thanks to his neighbors and friends who labored so determinedly and faithfully, to relieve him from the embarrassing position in which the late storm placed him, on the occasion of the death of his wife, as the roads were utterly blockaded, and burial was impossible except through the determined efforts of his friends to relieve him.

—Mr. Wm. T. Morgan has been appointed express agent at this station, to fill the vacancy made by the death of Mr. Hinckley. The appointment was something of a surprise to our citizen, as it had not entered the minds of any that Uncle Bill had entered the list with the younger contestants for the place.

—Mrs. Henry Williams, whose illness was spoken of in last week's issue, died on Saturday last about four o'clock. She has been a great sufferer and her disease baffling the best medical skill and developing some symptoms, a post mortem examination was held, which developed the fact that her stomach was a mass of cancers which rendered all medical aid unavailable. The funeral was held at the house on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Dr. Wardner officiating. On Wednesday morning the remains were taken to Utica, Wis., for interment. The deceased leaves a husband and two children and an aged father, Zina Gilbert, who has lived with them for many years, and a large circle of relatives and friends to mourn her loss.

At a recent meeting of the Orrell Local Board, near Wigan, in Lancashire, the clerk, in an illustration of the difficulties which beset the control of infection, mentioned a practice which exists in that district, of mothers deliberately exposing their young children to the infection of scarlet fever and whooping cough, under the belief that it was better that the children should have the disease while young. He designated the belief as a "superstition." We would rather term it a tradition, arising from the imperfectly understood results of experience.

The practice described is by no means confined to the part of Lancashire under consideration. Our own knowledge of it is somewhat extensive, but the exposure, so far as we have met with it, has been invariably limited to the obviously mild cases of infectious disease, and some of the elements entered into the practice. First, there was the practically universal belief that the infectious diseases of children had to be undergone by every child, and the sooner they were got over the better for the child, both as to its chance of recovery and its subsequent welfare; and, next, there was the belief that if a child contracted the disease from a mild case it would have a mild attack, hence mild cases were selected to catch the disease from.

In both these elements there was a substratum of truth, which long experience and common observation had shown which was uncheckable by the more precise observation of the medical man.—London Lancet.

A Cough, Cold, or Sore Throat should be stopped. Neglect frequently results in an Incurable Lung Disease or Consumption. BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES do not disorder the stomach, like cough syrups and balsams, but act directly on the inflamed parts, allaying irritation, give relief in Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Cataracts, and the Throat Troubles which Singers and Public Speakers are subject to. For thirty years Brown's Bronchial Troches have been recommended by physicians, and always give perfect satisfaction. Having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age. Sold at 25¢ a box everywhere.
